There is nothing small about Pennsylvania. At the recent saw mill contest at the New Orleans exposition a firm in Erie carried off eight gold medals. The woods are full of saw mills and republicans.

There is but little change in the aspect of the ironworkers' strike at Pittsburgh. The strikers appear indifferent and calm—await results, and the manufacturers are taking advantage of the shut down to either repair machinery or take stock.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad company, held in Chicago on Wednesday, Mr. L. R. Cable was re-elected president, and Mr. W. G. Purdy, secretary and treasurer, in place of Mr. F. H. Tows, resigned.

Four persons were killed by lightning in Chicago during the heavy storm on Tuesday evening. The storm was an unusually severe one, several houses being destroyed, and it is feared that some disasters occurred on the lake, although as yet no loss of life has been reported.

General Logan will have an enthusiastic reception when he reaches Washington. The programme includes a grand procession from the railroad station to the senator's home on Iowa Circle; addresses of welcome by prominent republicans, and a salute of twenty-one guns.

By a recent census, taken in Philadelphia, of the religious opinions of the lawyers of that city, it was found that out of the fifteen hundred members of the bar, over thirteen hundred have well defined church affiliations, showing conclusively that Ingereel has talked to some purpose for the eastern churches.

Miss Julia Jackson, daughter of the late "Stonewall" Jackson, was married on Tuesday evening, in Richmond, Va., to Mr. William E. Christian, of that city. The church was crowded with a brilliant assemblage. The bride was born about six months before her father received his fatal wound at the battle of Chancellorsville, on May 10, 1863.

Admiral Jonett telegraphs the navy department: "The president of Columbia empowers me to mediate between contending parties. The Barnaulia government grants the insurgents reasonable terms. A successful mediation is probable, which will end the revolution. I shall make an earnest attempt to settle the trouble."

WISCONSIN PIONEERS.

The old settlers of Wisconsin will have an old-fashioned reunion at Madison on the 17th of the present month. The services will be held in the assembly chamber, beginning in the afternoon. The bill of fare, as regards addresses, will be one of the best ever served by the pioneer's association of this state as will be seen from the following:

Hon. Peter Parker, Jr., of La Fayette and Horace Chase, of Milwaukee, on the Early Days.

Hon. A. Hoyt Smith, of Rock county, on the Change in the Pioneer.

Hon. Nels Wheeler, of Sauk county, on Fun of the Olden Times.

Hon. C. J. Kinney, of Dane county, on the Pioneer Lawyer.

Hon. E. W. Keyes, of Dane county, on the Friend.

Hon. Geo. W. Storer, of Colorado, on Early Recollections of Madison.

Hon. David Atwood, of Dane county, on the Pioneer Press.

Bat many other prominent men will be present and will enliven the reunion with some interesting reminiscences.

Not only are all old settlers invited, but the offspring of all generations are cordially requested to join in the feast.

A GAME AT WHICH TWO CAN WORK.

The other day the Harper's Weekly made the statement in an editorial that the administration of Mr. Cleveland would do so fair that the principle of "offensive partisanship" would apply to democrats as well as to republicans; and that should any mistakes be made it would not be the result of a wilful disregard of civil service reform. Mr. Curtis is bound to lean on the Cleveland side of the fence no matter whether the Derby race took place yesterday at Epsom, England, and was witnessed by an immense crowd, including many Americans and the Prince and Princess of Wales and their five children. The race was won by Lord Hastings' bay colt Melton. The message announcing the result of the race was transmitted from London to New York yesterday by the Direct United States Cable company to the Associated Press in just three seconds, about the quickest time yet made between the two cities.

Governor St. John, the great third party apostle, spoke at St. Louis, Illinois, a day or two ago, and a special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune referring to the occasion says: "Every saloon in the city closed during his speech, and the saloonkeepers, thirty-two in number, are all democrats who recognized St. John's great service to the party in the late presidential campaign." When a public speaker professing high moral attainments reaches a point where the churches are closed to keep him out and the saloons follow their example as a token of regard, comment is unnecessary.

M. Goblet, the French Minister of public instruction, has published a reply to the protest of Archbishop Guibert against the description of the Pantheon, by its preparation for the reception of the body of Victor Hugo. M. Goblet says that the Archbishop exceeds the rights of his episcopacy in the feeling he has exhibited at the determination of the government to restore the Pantheon to its original purpose—a receptacle for the remains of the really great men of France. M. Goblet also points out that the religious functions of the Archbishop are at variance with his duties as a citizen to the government. "You are not authorized," says M. Goblet, "by any prerogative of your office to discuss the acts of the government." M. Goblet, in conclusion, reminds the Archbishop that his present attitude "is not likely to render more harmonious than they now are the relations of church and state."

Joseph B. Fowler was dismissed last Saturday from his position as chief of the pension division of the third auditor's office in the treasury department. Tuesday he was appointed a third-class clerk in the same division, a position within the classification of the civil service. This appointment raises another question for the civil service commission.

Pratt & Evanson will refund the price paid if Acker's Blood Elixir does not relieve any skin or blood disorder. A new, but thoroughly tested discovery.

BIRDS AND BEASTS

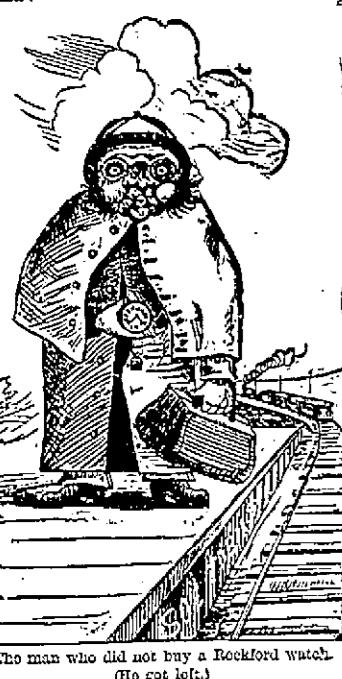

REPRESENTED AT A LATE BALL IN GAY PARIS.

Hats and Bulldogs, Peacocks and Porpoises, Monkeys and Mosquitos Thread the Maze—A Sort of Human Zoological Garden.

New York June 4.—A Paris cablogram says: "A magnificient ball was given this night by the Princess de Sagan, radiant in originality and splendor of decorations and novelties of taste of Louis XVI and Antoinette. Last night the prince survival of the eighteenth century fete of Le Fontaine this year the fete of Le Fontaine was utilized to supply motives for the fete. At 10:30 the due heir of the Faubourg St. Germain, resembling a delegation from the Jardin des Plantes, began to arrive in the cour d'honneur of the historic Hotel de Sagan, which, with its gardens, occupies the entire space between the Rue Saint-Dominique and the Rue de Grammont. The vestibule was entirely decorated. Sixty valises were displayed on stands. Forty other valises, some of them very valuable, were displayed on stands. The entrance was through a gallery, the ceiling of which was covered with hundreds of oil lamps, to descend from their carriages. The Princess de Sagan, radiant in the garb of a peacock, received her guests in the grand salon de reception at the head of the staircase. The skirt was of bluish-green satin, covered with point de Venise lace, sprangled with diamonds, pearls, and emeralds. Behind was a splendid peacock's tail, mounted on the shoulders and covered with hundreds of oil lamps, to descend from their carriages.
